Service should be fired says MP in takeover call

BY KATHRYN CAIN
editor@lsnmedia.co.uk

A BEDFORDSHIRE MP has written to high ranking government officials calling for the East of England Ambulance Service Trust (EEAST) to be scrapped and taken over by the region's fire services.

Following a damning report of the ambulance service by the Care Quality Commission (CQC), Richard Fuller, MP for Bedford and Kempston, has called for a meeting with Earl Howe, responsible for the nation's ambulance services, and Brandon Lewis MP, for the fire services, to discuss the possibility of a takeover.

His Parliamentary colleague, Andrew Selous, MP for South West Bedfordshire, does not go quite so far but recognises the serious problems faced by the ambulance service.

In the letter, Mr Fuller says: 'You will be aware of the low levels of morale among the employees in the service and their lack of confidence in the leadership of the organisation.'

'These are problems that I believe the fire services in East Anglia might be able to play a crucial role in remedying.'

He said: "Rather than just looking at internal solutions why not look at a service which the people of Bedfordshire have a high regard for to see if they can help and provide a stronger leadership?"

Mr Fuller added: "Bedfordshire Fire and Rescue Service has a very strong work ethic and team work, a spirit that is needed in the ambulance service."

"I believe that by combining these groups we could deliver a better quality service at a lower cost."

An EEAST spokesman said: "The role of the ambulance service is very different to that of the fire service and each service has very different challenges to address."

"We welcome the opportunity to work closer with colleagues while maintaining a professional service dedicated to patient care."

Andrew Selous said: "I can't endorse Richard Fullers' proposal as I wouldn't watch to overstretch the fire service."

"Having said that, I do have concerns about the ambulance service."

"In fact, I only wrote to the chief executive Andrew Morgan last week after learning that one of my constituents in Leighton Buzzard had to wait 40 minutes for an ambulance, and was told that no paramedics were available. In addition, I have recently attended a meeting with other MPs in Parliament, and we weren't all saying how wonderful the service was."

Chief Fire Officer for Bedfordshire Fire and Rescue Service, Paul Fuller, said he was 'keen' to explore how the organisations could work together.

He added: "We continue to have a working relationship with the ambulance service and we have nothing but admiration for the crews. "They share the same values as our firefighters, in terms of their commitment and team work."

The CQC has given the Trust just a week to respond on how it will improve patient care and welfare or the regulatory body will intervene and take action against them.

It could include fining the service, formal cautions or in an extreme case, cancelling its registration or bringing a prosecution.

FINISH LINE: Alf Hitchcock is leaving to join the Ministry of Defence police BEDFORDSHIRE Police's Chief Constable is leaving the force after spending more than two years in the role.

Alf Hitchcock, who is currently on leave, will be taking up a job as Chief Constable of the Ministry of Defence Police.

As the announcement was made on Friday, Mr Hitchcock said: "I am incredibly proud of what officers and staff have achieved since I arrived in Bedfordshire in January 2011."

Police and Crime Commissioner Olly Martins, who is responsible for recruiting a new Chief Constable, added: "I would like to express my gratitude to Alf for the strong and effective leadership that he has provided to the force over the past two years, and I wish him well with the new challenge he faces at the MoD Police." Mr Hitchcock's leaving date is yet to be confirmed and Mr Martins said he would be deciding on whether to get an interim Chief Constable until the permanent position was filled.

He added: "It's not a complete bolt out of the blue but I didn't expect I'd have to do this so quickly."

Drug addict admits to 'despicable' cash theft

BY JULIA SUTTON
editor@lutononsunday.co.uk

A HEROIN addict stole cash from an 81-year-old patient at the Luton and Dunstable hospital in what her own lawyer described as a 'despicable offence'.

On Tuesday, October 16, 2012, Gemma Janes, 29, of Guildford Street, Luton, went on to Ward 1 and befriended Christine Smith, by telling her she was visiting her own mother who was in the hospital with cancer.

When the food trolley arrived Miss Smith wanted to buy some crisps, but found that her handbag was missing and accused Janes of taking it.

When she called over the nurses a £20 note was discovered on the bed, while Janes had hidden a £5 note in her trousers.

The shocking theft was part of a spate of crime committed by Janes, who had been bailed repeatedly by magistrates.

At Luton Crown Court on Thursday, Janes appeared for sentence via a video link from Peterborough Jail, where she admitted 9 thefts, one assault and two offences of burglary.

The court also heard that she had 114 previous convictions.

Other crimes committed by Janes included shoplifting meat from the Co-op in Bishopscoe Road, theft of duvets from Dreams in Dunstable in which she assaulted a member of staff, the theft of a handbag from a customer in the White House in Luton, and stealing from a tattoo parlour in Guildford Street.

Sean Smith, defending Janes, said the theft from Miss Smith in the hospital was a "despicable offence."

He said she had pleaded guilty at the earliest opportunity so that the victims did not have to give evidence.

Mr Smith added that Janes had been in the grip of drug addiction but since she was remanded in custody on Saturday, December 22, had completed a detox course and was now clean.

Judge Harris told Janes she was taking a "wholly exceptional course" by passing a community order, which would give her the opportunity to rid herself of drugs.

In addition, she will be put under supervision for two years, must spend nine months on a drug rehabilitation course in Lincolnshire, and abide by a curfew for the next 12 weeks.

If she breaches the order the judge warned her she faces three years in jail adding: "Now it is over to you."

Problem streetlight continues to burn brightly

AN AUTHORITY has still not been out to fix a street lamp that has been permanently lit since last June.

Two weeks ago, Luton on Sunday reported that Central Bedfordshire Council was unable to fix the concrete light in Barton-le-Clay as health and safety regulations prevent anyone climbing a ladder to correct the problem.

But resident Terry Mailing, 65, of Applelebe in Barton, who first contacted us about the situation has branded it 'ridiculous'.

He said: "There has been a spotlight put on this issue, but still nothing has been done, and I haven't heard anything about any planned works."

"The weeks are quickly passing by and it just isn't good enough."

A spokesman for Central Bedfordshire Council said: "We have now written to Mr Mailing to inform him that the light is due to be fixed some time within the second week of April."

"In addition, we can confirm that the light being on day and night is not of any additional cost to either the authority or the taxpayer."

A decision on the plans will be made at the council's executive meeting tomorrow.

Workers strike over pension plans

REVENUE and customs staff from the HMRC enquiry centre in Luton took part in national industrial action this week. Union members had voted in favour of staging a walk out after raising concerns about changes to working conditions, pensions and pay.

On Wednesday, many staff from King House in George Street West, pictured, took to the streets.

Lawrence Patterson, Public and Commercial Services union representative for HMRC said: "This action was provoked by a two-year freeze on pay, ongoing reductions in take home pay due to increased pension contributions, greatly reduced pensions, an attack on terms and conditions and the withdrawal of services. "Just this last week HMRC announced the closure of 281 enquiry centres by March 2014 across the country, which includes the large centre in Luton.

"It is expected that this will be replaced by a telephone service, which we don't think is a good enough substitute for members of the public.

"People can't be expected to go and work until they are 68-years-old, and they can't continue to live on a reducing wage packet as the cost of living goes up.

"Times are hard, and a lot of people are struggling to make ends meet.

"This action was well received, with between 50 and 60 of staff refusing to cross the picket line."

Further strike action is due to take place, with a half day walk out planned for April 5, to coincide with the end of the self assessment tax year.

Police reveal weapons discovered in call-outs

BY CARL MUNGAZI

carl.mungazi@lutononsunday.co.uk

AN AXE, a baseball bat and a car jack are some of the weapons Bedfordshire Police officers have discovered at calls to bars, pubs and clubs in the town.

The data, revealed by a Freedom of Information Request, showed that officers had been called out a total of 673 times between 2009-2012.

It also contained a list of the venues which officers attended.

Only 358 of the calls led to an arrest being made, with 207 involving slight injuries to members of the public and 20 with serious injuries.

Other weapons included in the list were CS gas, a hammer, a wooden bar, scissors, furniture, bricks, a screwdriver and mobile phones.

Parts of people's bodies were listed as weapons including teeth, finger nails, feet, a head, fists and an elbow.

Human waste, saliva, blood and urine were also listed as weapons.

Bedfordshire Police force was unable to provide further detail on the total number of weapons officers have found or the types of injuries suffered as they said it would cost too much for them to process the FoI request.

A police spokeswoman said: "Bedfordshire Police continues to work with its partners in the town to ensure that Luton remains safe.

"Luton remains a great place to socialise and have a good time and our priority is to ensure everyone who visits Luton remains safe and our message is simple – come to Luton and have a great time but if you break the law you will be dealt with swiftly.

"As part of the Luton Safe Partnership we continue to patrol the town centre during the weekends and the SOS bus is an important part of these operations.

"It provides a safe haven for people who need help or who have been separated from their friends, and is staffed by volunteers who are fully trained in first aid and conflict resolution.

"The Luton Safe Partnership also continues to support the 'banned from one, banned from all' initiative which means if someone is caught breaking the law or causing problems in one venue they will not be able to visit any other venue within the partnership for a full 12 months."

ANGRY: Peggy Hill and partner Nigel Moss hope other residents will be more wary about their possessions

Thieves hit home twice in six days

BY CARL MUNGAZI

carl.mungazi@lutononsunday.co.uk

TWO thefts in six days have left a woman householder feeling 'shocked, angry and upset'.

Peggy Hill, from Hart Hill Drive, Luton, says the loss of her £1,300 scooter has 'taken away' her independence.

The part-time cleaner lives with her partner, who had his car number plate stolen six days after the initial theft of her 50cc Peugeot scooter on March 9.

She said: "When I discovered it had been stolen I was shocked, angry, upset and went through a whole range of emotions.

"I couldn't believe that it had been taken. I had only just registered it on February 15 so it was brand new.

"I have never had any issues around here since moving in three years ago but this has really thrown me. I am recovering from an illness and I don't need this stress.

"It has taken away my independence so now if I want to go out I must either take a taxi or wait for my partner to return from work because I am not insured for his car."

Ms Hill also said that her partner now has to keep a log of all the times he uses his car.

She is awaiting news of a replacement scooter from her insurance company after Bedfordshire Police recovered it. A spokeswoman for the force said that a man found in possession of the scooter is due to appear at Luton Magistrates on Wednesday.

She added: "Bedfordshire Police is committed to reducing offences of burglary.

"In the past year there have been 500 less victims of crime as the force has seen a reduction in offences of 18 per cent.

"We will continue to fight crime and protect the public and encourage all residents to continue to ensure they protect their property as well by employing effective home security."

Call for neighbours to be more vigilant after burglary

A MAN has urged residents to form 'tighter knit communities' after his property was burgled.

Colin Woods of Newbury Close, Luton, was shocked to discover intruders had broken into his home through a front window at around 7.30pm on Tuesday evening.

Sentimental items of jewellery including engagement and eternity rings were taken.

Colin said: "None of these items have much monetary value but they meant so much to me and my wife.

"We have been left very upset, and shocked by the brazen way in which these people got into our house.

"Years ago people knew their neighbours and kept an eye on any suspicious activity in the street.

"We are trying to bring that back in Newbury Close, so we have a tighter knit community and are more aware of any issues."

Anger over plans for traveller sites

BY LAUREN ARCHELL

lauren.archell@lutononsunday.co.uk

BARTON-LE-CLAY moved a step closer to hosting a traveller site after Central Bedfordshire Council's Executive Committee recommended submitting plans to the Secretary of State.

The draft plan, which includes placing 10 new pitches on land west of the village, will now be put before the full council on Thursday, April 18.

However there is still fierce opposition to the proposals by residents, who say they will continue to fight against them.

Councillor Ian Shingler, who represents Barton-le-Clay, said: "People are against these proposals because the site would be on greenbelt land.

"This is contrary to government policy. We will make our views heard at the full council meeting.

Cllr Nigel Young said: "These site recommendations were based on three waves of assessment, visits made to each site and feedback and comments that we have received.

"Now they will go before council and then will be open for public consultation in May or June."

Parents to protest against school bus cuts

A NEWLY-FORMED committee is hoping to force Luton Borough Council to abandon plans to cut funding for buses to faith schools.

The group, formed of parents of children who attend, or are due to start at Cardinal Newman High School, is staging demonstrations to show the impact the proposals would have if they go ahead.

Tomorrow, the group will embark on a mass drive to the high school at both 8am and 3.30pm in an attempt to demonstrate how much extra traffic will be on the roads if there is no free public transport.

Spokeswoman for the Cardinal Newman Preserve our School Transport Committee, Antoinette Kotula, said: "More than 300 people attended a meeting we held last week where issues concerning congestion, cost and child safety were raised."

Committee members are hoping to speak at the next full council meeting on Tuesday, April 16.

Development plan to be discussed by councillors

BARNFIELD College has submitted plans for a three-storey building on its New Bedford Road site.

The college is proposing a 'Creative Industries' department with facilities including a fashion studio, theatre space and TV/radio studios.

Councillors will meet on Wednesday to discuss the plans which are recommended for acceptance.

Last year the college withdrew an application to sell green space at the site for a development including a new 508-pupil primary school, an 88-bed care home, a dependency unit and housing.

The application drew fierce opposition from residents and the Barnfield Development Action Group. There are more than 50 objections to the new plans.

Man admits assault on pensioner in her home

BY LAUREN ARCHELL

lauren.archell@lutononsunday.co.uk

A MAN has pleaded guilty to indecently assaulting an 82-year-old woman in her own home.

Darren Emmerson, 40, of Parkside Drive, Houghton Regis had been charged with sexual assault against the elderly victim and also a section 4 offence under the Public Order Act against an 18-year-old girl in an alleyway.

Both incidents happened on Monday, March 18.

Emmerson first appeared at Luton Magistrates' Court on Wednesday. It was heard that he was walking through Houghton Regis at around midnight when he spotted the teenage girl.

He shouted a range of sexually explicit obscenities at her in a bid to get her to talk to him, but she ran home and rang the police.

Emmerson spotted a light on in a nearby house at around 1am. He knocked on the door and when the 82-year-old victim answered, he forced his way in and sexually assaulted her.

The attack lasted around 35 minutes after which Emmerson casually left the property.

Mr Majid Mahmood, defending, said: "This was a drink-fuelled incident, and the alcohol gave him Dutch courage."

"He has made full admissions when interviewed and has entered an early guilty plea."

Magistrates decided their powers were not sufficient to deal with the case and committed it to Luton Crown Court.

Emmerson was remanded in custody and is due to appear before Luton Crown Court on Friday, April 12.

'Lucky' to have L&D

SIR – With respect to all the adverse reporting on the Luton and Dunstable Hospital of recent weeks, I would like to redress the balance.

I have just completed a course of treatment at the St Mary's Day Unit over a period of five days. On entering the unit, I was immediately made welcome with offers of a hot drink.

The staff could not have been more kind, friendly, caring and cheerful – it was a pleasure to go.

The Unit was spotlessly clean as were the toilets, and the staff were continually cleaning the equipment.

I could not have received better treatment anywhere in the world and this reflects the treatment that I have received in the other departments I have attended.

In my estimation, the Luton and Dunstable Hospital is an excellent establishment and I think Luton is lucky to have it.
AE Broughton,
Florence Avenue, Luton

It's time for the courts to get tough

SIR - Please let me congratulate and thank our local cops for the sterling work they've been doing in reducing burglary by 'sitting on' known offenders.

Very well done. Unfortunately I don't have the same warm feelings about all aspects of our crime and punishment sector.

In fact I do wonder if some of it has gone absolutely bonkers.

First we hear of the burglar that police (not Bedfordshire) let off with a caution and now - in Luton - another burglar only gets fined a paltry £178 for burglary.

I doubt very much if that got anywhere near covering the cost of the police time involved in apprehending him and bringing the case to court.

I bet our bobbies pull out their hair in frustration when these daft 'punishments' are handed down.

But far worse in my opinion was the stupidly inappropriate fine of £110 the beak gave the burglar for driving without insurance.

Was the magistrate really unaware that £110 was only a fraction of the likely insurance premium Mr Florin was dodging?

Thus sending out the clear message: 'don't buy insurance, pay the fine instead - and then only if you're caught.'

Uninsured drivers are a major problem in our society and it's high time they were cracked down on.

Quite apart from the fact that all law-abiding drivers are having to pay higher premiums to effectively subsidise these criminals, which means they are stealing from all of us.

What happens if a child is crippled for life by being run down by an uninsured driver?

Where does the compensation come from to purchase wheelchairs and possible life-time special care?

An uninsured driver is a serious menace to society and should be treated as such.

I would suggest that a first offence should mean a heavy fine - say ten times the premium being dodged - together with a twelve months driving ban.

A second offence should automatically trigger a life ban.

These people are knowingly putting all of us at risk and are forcing us to pay them for the privilege.

But first, it seems we need to educate our magistrates about some basic facts of life.

Airport plan being dealt with 'fairly'

BY CARL MUNGAZI

carl.mungazi@lutononsunday.co.uk

LUTON Council has insisted it is dealing 'impartially, fairly and transparently' with an application to expand capacity at Luton Airport after a neighbouring authority said the plans should be looked at by the Planning Inspectorate.

Harpenden Town Council says 'it is in the clear interest of all stakeholders, including Luton Borough Council' that the plans to increase passenger capacity to 18million people a year be looked at independently.

But Luton Council says that its role as the planning authority is separate to its position as a shareholder of London Luton Airport Ltd (LLAL), the company which owns the airport.

Earlier this month Harpenden councillors met to discuss a formal response to the application.

A Luton council spokesman said: "The council, as local planning authority, has recently conducted a full statutory consultation after receiving a planning application from the operator of the airport, London Luton Airport Operations Ltd. The planning application is being dealt with impartially, fairly and transparently.

"A decision to be made subsequently by the Development Control Committee will have regard to all material planning considerations."

"That will include the responses of consultees, and be based on sound judgements that need to be supported by clear planning reasons and taken in accordance with the relevant policies in the development plan."

He added that it was 'Government policy for decisions on planning applications to be made locally wherever possible'.

Airport expansion plans have been met with heavy resistance from groups like Hale, who staged a 'pyjama protest' last week

THERE was a time when a man would no more attend the birth of his children than take his cap off indoors.

How times have changed.

When I was born, my dad was down the pub celebrating. He soon regretted that. But that was the norm in the 1950s.

A recent university study shows that virtually no father attended the birth before the 1960s and that now it is almost compulsory, complete with video.

It was also the case that the medical profession did not welcome the idea and some mothers were not too keen either, in showing not their best side.

In Victorian days it was not unusual for husband and wife never to see each other naked.

These days anything goes and if you don't believe me, watch Embarrassing Bodies.

Although most dads now attend, men still do not necessarily feel part of the process.

Apparently one in three feel left out of pregnancy and sidelined at birth. That is because they are not having the baby, although a few pretend they are.

The best thing to do, and I am not just saying this from fear of the present Mrs Lowe, is do what the woman wants you to do.

Which is, of course, why I was at the birth of our now ten-year-old. It was by Caesarian section, so I was kitted out in gown, cap and large green wellies.

From wetting the head to attending

To take her mind off the business, I also took a quiz book. The operation was slightly delayed while an argument ensued between the medics as to which year Tiger Feet was number one.

The wife was screaming, not the answer, but if we could all concentrate and get on with it.

Some people have no patience.

Anyway she got her own back as the baby was placed in post-natal and when I went to see her was firmly told by a nurse that only parents were allowed to visit their offspring at anytime, and that grandfathers could only come during visiting hours.

We both have scars.

THE big news from Parliament this week is not the budget but that once a week there is a karaoke night in the House.

Every Thursday MPs let their hair down and bellow out their favourite tunes.

The very thought is enough to send a shiver down my spine.

No doubt George Osborne sings: 'I will survive', while his opposite number, Ed Balls, prefers: 'Hey big spender'.

Most of the Cabinet form a group to croon: 'Who wants to be a millionaire? We are'. Ed Miliband has a soft spot for the Beatles and mumbles 'Help'. What would you like your MP to sing?

ONCE again the opponents against Luton Airport expansion are stretching the truth. They are complaining that they will not be able to sleep at night because of the aircraft noise. Their livestock makes more noise than aircraft these days. And if that is their objection, why do they not campaign for no night flights?

This seems an extreme case of Nimbyism, where, as one Luton councillor once told me, everyone wants a bus service but no-one wants a bus stop outside their house. The expansion of Luton airport makes good sense both for employment and to accommodate the increasing desire of people, including those from Hertfordshire, to fly.

SUCCESS: Pupils from Lealands High School enjoyed the day

Budding reporters enter newsroom

MORE than 40 students from Lealands High School tried their hand at journalism for the BBC School Report day.

On Thursday, would-be reporters gathered news, recorded video footage and worked to tight deadlines.

One group chose the news stories and compiled reports, while others edited video clips, wrote blogs and created a newsletter for students and pupils.

English teacher Mrs Bews said the day was a 'huge success.'

Council says it will look at complaints

BY CARL MUNGAZI

carl.mungazi@lutononsunday.co.uk

SPECIFIC complaints made about social workers pressuring residents to switch care providers will be investigated 'accordingly', Luton Council has said.

Last week Luton on Sunday reported that the authority had appointed seven providers to deliver home care from April 1 this year.

There were ten agencies who were unsuccessful or chose not to bid for the new contract.

An owner of one of the ten agencies said she had received reports of her clients being pressured to leave her agency.

The woman, who did not want to be named, said: "My carers have been telling me that some of our clients are being pressured into leaving my agency."

"I do not mind not winning the new contract, that's fair enough, but they should not be trying to convince my clients to join their new providers. I am not happy."

A council spokesman said: "Social workers are explaining the impact of the changes in a completely neutral way, encouraging clients to choose for themselves which provider delivers their home care. The emphasis of the approach is about clients exercising personal choice and control of their care, with the council having no vested interest with regards to the choices customers make.

"If there are any specific complaints we would kindly request that these are shared with us so that we can investigate accordingly."

Mystery over late casino licence bid

BY CARL MUNGAZI

carl.mungazi@lutononsunday.co.uk

A MYSTERY bidder has tabled a late application for a casino in the town centre.

The application was received by Luton council on February 27, more than three months after its closing date for small casino licence requests on November 9 last year.

Councillors will now meet on Wednesday to decide whether or not to accept and consider the bid.

The authority was awarded a small casino licence in 2008 and last year it received four applications from Grosvenor Casino, Manorgate Casino, Saxon Investments UK Ltd and Genting Casino.

But Genting Casino withdrew its application soon after and the council is now considering the other submissions.

Under the Gambling Act 2005 the council is not required to consider late submissions but can do so at its own discretion.

However, two of the three remaining applicants have sent the authority a letter urging them to reject the new bid.

A council spokesman said: "We will not be releasing information on the applicant nor the proposed location as the detail of the application is not up for consideration."

"The matter in hand is purely one of the principle of whether or not the council would accept this application as it is after the closing date."

"If the application is accepted then the details of the actual proposal will be available publicly through the normal licensing process."

STANDSTILL: Gritting teams will try and prevent road delays

It's snow joke! More cold weather ahead

IT may be Easter next week, but there is still no sign of spring, with heavy snow and ice forecast this weekend.

It is thought temperatures could fall as low as minus three today and minus two on Monday and Tuesday.

Gritting teams from Luton Borough Council and Central Bedfordshire Council, will continue to salt the roads throughout the area in an effort to ensure routes stay safe despite the latest big freeze.

Big high street stores shut doors for good

BY LAUREN ARCHELL
lauren.archell@lutononsunday.co.uk

TWO well-known shops have closed down in the space of a week – the latest victims of the economic downturn.

DVD rental company
Blockbuster ceased trading in Marsh Road, Luton, on Sunday
March 17, with music store HMV in The Mall closed on Saturday.

Both companies had entered administration at the turn of the year.

The Blockbuster Video store had initially survived the first wave of closures in the business, but it has since been decided that it is no longer viable to keep the premises open.

Both stores promoted big 'closing down' sales, reducing many items in a bid to sell remaining stock. One shopper, who left HMV with a bag of bargains, said: "I don't remember the last time I went into the store, I do a lot of my shopping online now.

Will you miss the stores? Let us know at luton-dunstable.co.uk

Fatal house blaze started by electric blanket

A FIRE which claimed the life of a 95-year-old woman was started by her electric blanket, an inquest has heard.

Doreen French, of Marsh Road, Luton,
died on July 21, 2012,
from smoke inhalation

after an electrical lead set alight to her bed.

Fire crews attended,
but Miss French was pronounced dead at the scene. Fire investigation officer Steve Allen, who was called to the property, said he remembered it being cold for a summer night, which is why Miss French may have had her blanket switched on.

He said: "We would urge people to change their electric blanket
every ten years.

"Although we don't know exactly how old it was, it could be that the age of the blanket was a contributing factor."

At the inquest on Tuesday, coroner David Morris recorded a verdict of accidental death.

Apprentice scheme flies on to next stage

BY CARL MUNGAZI
carl.mungazi@lutononsunday.co.uk

A MAN from the town has joined fellow apprentices from around the county in being recognised for their contribution to maintaining and servicing aircrafts.

Chris Redford (pictured far right), 20, is part of the 'Made by Apprentices' projects which highlights the talents of apprentices at Monarch Aircraft Engineering in Luton.

He was joined by Jamie Cooper, 19, from Bedford, Mason Cooper, 18, from Hemel Hempstead and Jonathan Bell, 17, from Clophill in Bedford, who have spent some time training at the academy.

They will now move on to Monarch's Luton, Birmingham and Manchester airport bases.

As part of the nation-wide campaign they signed their names on to one of the aircrafts which they help to service and maintain, and their pictures are now featured on Prime Minister David Cameron's Pinterest page.

Jay O'Brien, practical training

co-ordinator at Monarch Aircraft Engineering Limited, said: "We have trained apprentices for over 40 years and are recognised world-wide for producing high calibre engineers."

"Not only does the scheme help to provide jobs for people in the local community, it also provides an essential pipeline of skilled aircraft engineers, both for us and the industry as a whole."

Karen Woodward, the central divisional area director of the National Apprenticeship Service, said: "Apprentices are vital to businesses up and down the country."

"It's great to see them getting the recognition they deserve and giving them the chance to put their own stamp on some of Britain's most iconic products."

More time to share opinion on library services

RESIDENTS still have an opportunity to have their say on proposals that could affect Luton's libraries, as the deadline to make representations has been extended.

The consultation, which is looking at two potential options for the future of Luton's library facilities, will now close on Wednesday, April 24.

The vision for the future service is to have fewer stand-alone buildings and more libraries in community centres. One option involves stopping the mobile library service, with the other option being to keep the mobile service by reducing hours at the Central Library and other libraries. An online survey is available at www.luton.gov.uk/yoursay.

Paper copies are also available at all Luton libraries, community centres or by calling 01582 547319.

Pupils collect food to help the needy

BY LAUREN ARCHELL
lauren.archell@lutononsunday.co.uk

A PRIMARY school has collected items to donate to a foodbank ahead of its launch.

Pupils from Chantry Primary Academy in Tomlinson Avenue, Luton, brought in nutritionally balanced foods, to help support the Luton Foodbank facility, which is due to open on Tuesday, April 2.

Luton South MP, Gavin Shuker and Police and Crime Commissioner Olly Martins attended the school on Friday, to see the children hand over their donations.

Headteacher Cori Bateman said: "The children are keen to get involved in their community and this is a local charity supporting local families."

"We know that some of our families have received this type of help before, so it is great for the children to be in a position to help others."

"As a values-based school it is fantastic to have an opportunity for children to demonstrate values such as charity, friendship and love in such a practical way."

Liz Stringer, interim chair of Luton Foodbank said: "I was delighted with the response from Chantry Primary Academy."

GENEROUS: Olly Martins and MP Gavin Shuker with the items collected by pupils from Chantry Primary Academy

"The donations will help boost the stocks of the foodbank in preparation for the official launch on Tuesday, April 2."

Once open, the Luton Foodbank aims to help those who are in crisis by providing emergency food parcels that will include enough to eat for a minimum of three days.

If referred to the facility an individual will have access to nutritionally balanced and culturally appropriate food, which can be picked up from a number of distribution points at community centres in the town.

There are also plans to offer signposting and support at distribution points to help people resolve underlying problems which may have led to their crisis or hardship.

For more information about how you donate to the facility or become a volunteer, visit www.lutonfoodbank.org.uk.

To find out what items are suitable to be donated, visit www.luton-dunstable.co.uk.

Lecturer 'saddened' by Iraq war aftermath

BY CARL MUNGAZI
carl.mungazi@lutonsunday.co.uk

THE aftermath of the Iraq War brought the nation to a 'standstill and taken the country back to the Middle Ages', a Luton-based academic has warned on the 10th anniversary of the war.

Dr May Witwit, an Iraqi academic who fled the country and now resides in the town, has said the situation in her motherland has worsened following what she describes as an 'invasion' by America.

A combined force of troops from the United States, the United Kingdom and other allies invaded the country on March 19, 2003 and deposed its leader Saddam Hussein.

Dr Witwit, who studied for a doctorate in philosophy at the University of Bedfordshire after leaving Iraq, said she is 'saddened that things have yet to settle down'. She is now eager to raise awareness of the on-going civil issues that plague her country.

Just this week 60 people died in Baghdad in a series of suicide bombings – an ongoing problem which has overwhelmed the country since the toppling of Saddam.

The country is also in political

Dr Witwit was an English lecturer at Baghdad University before the war crisis, with Prime Minister Nouri al-Maliki at loggerheads with the Kurds, who have their own autonomous region in the north.

Sunni areas in the west of the country have also been rising up against the PM, who's from the majority Shia community.

Dr Witwit said: "We were a country, now we are not.

"The country, before the war under Hussein was functioning, there were vital services running okay and there wasn't much corruption. But now it's been brought to a standstill. Everyone knows what Saddam was like, however at least back then you knew when to speak and when not to speak, as long as you didn't interfere in politics you were generally safe.

"Today there are just so many extreme views out there and you fear from them all.

"People are not sure how to act and it's impossible to please each as their views widen so far.

"You are simply not safe to discuss anything with them."

High Sheriff installed to serve Bedfordshire

BY RUPERT MARQUAND
editor@lsnmedia.co.uk

A NEW High Sheriff for Bedfordshire has been installed.

Deborah Inskip, was inaugurated at a ceremony held at Bedford Modern School on Friday and will serve for one year.

Mrs Inskip, pictured, who was appointed by The Queen, replaces Jack Sapsworth MBE who served for the previous year.

The role dates back 1,000 years to the Norman conquest and the office is the oldest royal appointment.

The role has changed over the centuries and now it is a High Sheriff's job to provide a supporting role within their counties to police and emergency services, local authorities and religious groups.

Another key part of the position is promoting the voluntary sector and encouraging voluntary organisations within the county.

Additionally it is their duty to ensure the welfare of visiting High Court Judges and support the Lord-Lieutenant on royal visits.

In the past they would be responsible to the king for the maintenance of law and order within the county, and for the collection and return of taxes due to the crown.

There are currently 55 High Sheriffs serving the counties of England and Wales each year while the role is an independent non-political appointment for a single year.

Concorde Blinds Direct

WHEN Alex Stewart-Jones prepared to move house she scouted the Internet for original but cost effective interior design ideas. However she was astounded to find everything she needed, from soft furnishings to contemporary wooden shutters, on her own door-step and under one roof at Concorde Blinds.

"Rory's nursery has the 'wow' factor," says the mum-of-two from Oakley. "I wanted something that would take him from baby to teenager, something quirky and cool. Nothing too cutesy or garish."

"When I saw Concorde's new range for little boys I completely fell in love with it."

"We bought a roman blind, wallpaper and a matching lampshade and beanbag in a cheeky Dragon design. Although the Alien and Dinosaur prints were also strong contenders."

"Big kids also adore the new range, with Rory's dad choosing wallpaper in the Spitfire design for his office!"

For more than 35 years Concorde has been the go-to place for curtains and blinds but it also stocks the most extensive range of wallpaper and soft furnishings to be found locally.

"I found the selection far better than the major department stores and to suit all tastes and budgets" says Alex. Alongside all the major brands Concorde also stocks some of the lesser known designers.

"Its Kempston showroom is an Aladdin's Cave of wall coverings, fabrics, tassels and embellishments – I had absolutely no idea."

"Julie and her team were more than happy to grab sample after sample over a cup of coffee."

"I also ended up coming away with curtain poles and Plantation-style wooden shutters."

"I'd researched the internet extensively to get the best deal but for price, choice and customer service Concorde simply couldn't be beaten."

Spring 2013 Home & Gardens

Kitchens to die for

You can change the look of the rest of the house without too much major upheaval but this is the big one. You'll probably only remodel your kitchen once or twice over the years so it is really important to get it right and how you want it.

Your kitchen has to reflect your lifestyle which probably means that it will have to function on a number of different levels. But bear in mind that sometimes it pays to spend a little bit more so that the furniture and appliances you install will last without dating.

For those who love the idea of a country-style kitchen, natural wood, whether it's limed, stained, painted or waxed, offers plenty of potential to display pretty crockery and other kitchen accessories adding to the olde-worldie charm. And if you have the space, a scrubbed wooden table will serve multiple purposes as a food preparation worktop and a place around which to share good food, good conversation and good company.

A Shaker-inspired kitchen combines old and new by mixing the wood-dominated look of a traditional kitchen and the clean lines of a more contemporary one - the perfect choice for indecisive types! Contemporary kitchen design is influenced by a need to keep appliances, fittings and accessories out of sight to enhance the crisp, clean lines of this look. Sleek is in. Mono shades sit comfortably within this style but this year, both peacock blue and purple are also proving popular.

A high gloss finish will maximise space and reflect light, but there's no compromise on functionality. Stainless steel appliances not only look stylish and sophisticated but also give the room a unified look and those silver clean lines signal top-end refrigerators, stoves and even rubbish bins. A central island is a practical, space-saving element in any kitchen that can accommodate it. Granite, engineered stone or Corian (a man-made product) is easy to keep clean and beautiful to look at. Lighting is hugely important so worth taking time to plan. You'll need it light and bright for certain tasks but kinder for more relaxed dining or socialising.

And of course, twinkly LED lighting is not only environmentally friendly but also economically attractive.

Supplied & fully installed, insurance approved Intruder Alarm System from only £350 fully inclusive of equipment, labour and 12 months warranty

BA Security have been installing and servicing Intruder Alarm Systems in and around Luton for the past 30 years and take pride in the fact that we have been based in Wellington Street for the duration of that time something that no other local company can boast.

We believe that being based in the same location for all this time shows that we are a company that can be trusted and relied upon to look after you home security.

With this in mind we have been able to use our reputation with manufactures and suppliers to put together a package which means that everyone can afford both the security and peace of mind of having a professionally installed Intruder Alarm System, insurance approved and installed by a SSAIB approved company and not your typical flyby 1 man band who may not be around from one week to the next.

Our Intruder Alarm Systems are manufactured by Pyronix who, as well as being one of the U.K's leaders, have won awards for their systems.

Our clear cut pricing means that what you see is what you pay for with no hidden costs.

Our base Intruder Alarm System consists of the following:

- 1x Panel & Keypad,
- 1x Live Bell,
- 1x Door Contact,
- 2x PIR Detectors,
- 2x Remote Arming/Disarming Fobs.

If you require additional Detectors, Door Contacts, Fobs or even Smoke Detector which will allow your system to double up as a Fire Alarm, then we simply install them at a set cost for each additional device, no hourly charge. No fuss, no problems.

Each of our systems come with the peace of mind of a 12 month manufacturer's warranty but if you take out one of our all inclusive maintenance agreements, we can extend the warranty to 2 years meaning that should anything go wrong within that time, the device will be replaced totally "FREE OF CHARGE", (Terms and conditions apply)

Home & Gardens

Make the most of

The days are getting longer, the sky is getting brighter - and all you can see is that your home looks duller! Spring cleaning can go a long way to breathing new life into your home but sometimes a little more inspiration is required.

There's nothing like a design rethink - even a mini-makeover - to cheer up both you and your home by making a few significant alterations.

You need to get the most out of the space you've got. The three most common ways of making your home bigger is to go UP into the loft, OUT into an extension, or DOWN into the basement. Modern building techniques and new materials give you more choices, whether the conversion is to serve as an extra bedroom, bigger kitchen, bathroom, home office or a playroom for the kids.

If you don't have any extra room to add an extension, try re-positioning the furniture; it will cost you nothing and change the look of a room in a flash. If, previously, your sofa and chairs were against the walls, pull it all out and place it at angles.

Seating and storage options need to pay their way. Armchairs or sectional sofas that can be mixed and matched to suit different arrangements are back in vogue. They need to be easy to take care of and eco-friendly as a bonus, as do storage items that can accommodate TVs, DVD players and surround sound systems.

If you are on a budget even painting one wall as a focal point will look cleaner and brighter. Add colourful texture and warmth with big bright cushions or rugs made of recycled materials or natural fabrics.

FOR ALL YOUR HOME AND BUSINESS NEEDS

your living space

There are also plenty of inexpensive wall hangings on the market - whether it's a classic reproduction or a funky sculpture - but when you position it, hang it lower than you might normally think of doing. On the other hand, hang your curtains as high as possible to give the appearance of height to your room.

Continuing the eco-approach, there are some terrific lamps and reading lights made out of recycled wood and plastic and there's no reason why you shouldn't decorate your walls with nature too.

Plants always live up any home decorating ideas and come in a multitude of styles and sizes. But if your track record in keeping them alive is not good there are some remarkably attractive silk flowers on the market these days. Large statement scenes of plants, trees and flowers work very well in the contemporary living room and they can be as realistic or as abstract as you like.

All in all, whatever you decide to do to improve your home the upside is that not only do you get to enjoy a re-invigorated living space but you're bound to recoup your investment if you come to sell later on.

With a little creativity - but not a lot of money - you can really look forward to summer at home.

Spring 2013 Home & Gardens

Beautiful Gardens

If you are clever (and lucky) enough to have green fingers and a back yard that others drool over, you'd be amazed at what you can do with just a little forethought and elbow grease on even the smallest patch.

Garden trends have to tick a number of boxes not least the need to be practical, environmentally sound and imaginatively designed - and all without spending too much money to achieve your own little Eden.

You can't hurry a garden. Unless you've got a team of heavies to come and give it an instant makeover it could take years to get your plot just the way you want it. But there are a few tricks of the trade you can bear in mind.

Hot colours, such as reds, orange, bright yellow and even brilliant white will jump out at you. They will make a large space more intimate and a small garden feel even tinier.

Cool colours - blues, soft pinks and lilacs mimic that atmospheric blue remembered hills' haze. Plant up flowers, shrubs and bushes in those colours round the perimeter and it will make your garden feel bigger. Similarly, painting fences in muted hues will add to the perception of receding boundaries.

You can borrow a few tips in perspective from painters by running a path straight down the centre of your garden that gradually narrows as it reaches the back fence. Or clip a hedge so that it diminishes in height the further away from you it gets.

Growing your own vegetables and herbs, whether it's on half an acre or in a window box, is a great way to get the whole family involved in an activity that will give hours of fun and good exercise as well as putting some delicious home-grown produce on the table.

Spotlight on

Stopsley Village

Stopsley is the "hidden gem" in the north-east of Luton and just 5 minutes from the Town Centre, and it exudes a real feeling of community spirit. Originally a hill-top village settlement, most of the urbanised part of the civil parish of Stopsley became part of Luton when the boundaries were extended in 1933, with the rural areas going to Hyde and Streatley.

After the Second World War, there was a severe shortage of accommodation and to save both time and money new building materials were employed. Many of the houses built at this time used sheet metal for the upper parts of the construction, hence the local name for part of Stopsley being 'Tintown'. Many of these houses still stand today, although over the last few years the local council has reclad some of them in brick and pebbledash.

The centre of Stopsley Village is made up of an eclectic mix of local shops and businesses on either side of the road and around the Victorian village church of St. Thomas. These include banks, a building society, local supermarkets, newsagents and post office, a local charity shop, fast food, takeaways and restaurant, an antique and unique furniture / accessory showroom, a pub, coffee shop, a barbers, hair and beauty salons, unique gift shops including Fair Trade, a bakers, chemist, dental practice, hardware and D.I.Y, tan and tone salon, used car dealership, dry cleaners, domestic and contract flooring specialist, stone mason, travel shop and numerous estate agents. It is also home to Stopsley Community Primary, Stopsley Village Pre - school and Stopsley High School, a designated specialist sports college which also hosts a 5-a-side football facility, a library and Luton Conservative Club.

Parking is FREE or alternatively, access is made easy with the frequency of the buses that run through the Village.

Cave man Cage and a likeable cast save this generic adventure

THE CROODS

Running Time: 2hrs 5mins

Director: Sam Raimi

IT'S so hard to bring something new to the animated movie party – but Dreamworks just about do that with its latest outing.

The Croods might ultimately lack the ingenuity that the likes of Pixar bring to the genre – but this wonderfully colourful adventure ticks most of the family cinema boxes.

It stars the world's first prehistoric family, mainly centred around two Hollywood stars who seem to be in everything at the moment – Nicolas Cage as father and family protector Grug, and Spider-man's Emma Stone as rebellious teen Eep.

And when the cave they spend most of their lives dwelling in gets crushed, the knuckle-dragging family – which includes wife Ugga (Catherine Keener), son Thunk (Clark Duke) and Gran (Cloris Leachman) – gets thrust out into a dangerously fantastical new world, changing their lives forever.

They then encounter an imaginative fire-making nomad called Guy (Ryan Reynolds) – complete with his comedy monkey belt (the film's major comic relief) – and the majority of the family want to follow his positive outlook, much to the chagrin of Grug, who simply wants to seek solace in another dingy cave.

It's actually when The Croods move out of the darkness of their restricted homestead, that the movie comes to life.

The first half an hour is a bit of a tedious bore, but when the characters start to spread their proverbial wings in this spectacular new world, it starts to have fun – if still in a fairly generic way.

But despite the paint-by-numbers script – and a seen-it-all-before ending – The Croods succeeds with its likeable cast led by Cage, Stone and Duke.

Fortunately it ends up more in the league of the colourful Ice Age 3 – in comparison to the tepid Ice Age 4 – on the animated movie scale, leaving this to undoubtedly evolve into a successful new family franchise.

'Les Mis' leaves the stage for its big screen debut

LES MISERABLES

The Grove Theatre, Dunstable
Monday-Wednesday, Various Times

LAST year, the world's longest-running musical, Les Miserables, brought its power to the big screen in Tom Hooper's sweeping and spectacular interpretation of Victor Hugo's epic tale.

In 1815 France, convict Jean Valjean is released on parole by prison guard Javert after serving a nineteen-year sentence.

He is offered food and shelter by the Bishop of Digne (Colm Wilkinson), but steals his silver during the night.

He is then caught by the authorities, but the Bishop lies that the silver was given as a gift, and secures Valjean's release.

Touched by the Bishop's love, grace and generosity, Valjean breaks his parole and vows to start an honest life under a new identity. Javert swears he will bring the escaped convict to justice.

Eight years later in 1823, Valjean has become a wealthy factory owner and mayor of Montreuil-sur-Mer.

Fantine, one of his workers, is discovered to be sending money to her illegitimate daughter, Cosette, who lives with the unscrupulous Thénardiens and their daughter Éponine, and is dismissed by the foreman.

Left with no alternative, Fantine turns to prostitution. During an argument with an abusive customer, Javert, now a police inspector, arrests Fantine, but Valjean intercedes and takes her to a hospital.

Later, Valjean learns that a man believed to be him has been arrested. Unable to condemn an innocent man, Valjean reveals his identity to the court before departing for the hospital. There he promises a dying Fantine that he will look after her daughter.

Tickets cost £6.50 and you can book by calling 01582 602080.

Bonham spirit lives on

MUSIC

SPIRIT TOUR

The Stables, Miltom Keynes
April 12, 8pm

PROMOTING her new album 'Spirit' recorded in Chichester, UK, and Nashville, USA, Deborah Bonham and her band are setting out on their UK tour.

As the daughter of the famous drummer John Bonham, Deborah was only five when he joined Led Zepellin and this powerful introduction to music sparked in her the overwhelming desire to write and perform her own material.

The band has recorded a total of 15 tracks for her new album with 'Duchess' Producer Glenn Skinner (of Deborah Harry and Killing Joke fame).

On drums is Marco Giovino (from Robert Plant's Band of Joy, John Cale, Norah Jones) and other guests include pedal steel supremo, B.J. Cole and A.N. Other.

The first single from the album, 'Take Me Down' has received great reviews both in the UK and US, with the track spending four weeks week at number one on the ReverbNation Rock Chart.

In December 2011, Deborah and her band played the opening set at a Paul Rodgers charity show.

Her band then went on to back Paul for a set of Free and Bad Company classics.

Paul returned on May 31 for another show for the charity, when Deborah's band this time around backed Paul for an entire set of Free songs, as well as performing their own set with Deborah, featuring songs from her new album.

A third show with Paul is now scheduled for March 30 this year and once again, Deborah and her band will open the evenings proceedings.

After playing with her Paul said: "I'm touched by her sweet nature and her warm and wicked singing and writing talent."

Tickets cost £12.50 and you can book by calling 01908 280800.

Online bookings and more information can be found on www.stables.org.

The boys bring a barrel of laughs

ON April 13 Peacock & Gamble will be visiting the Harpenden Public Halls with their show 'Don't Even Want To Be On Telly Anyway'.

Everybody's favourite comedy nice boys, Ray and Ed, will be bringing with them another show full of fun, idiocy and handsomeness live on a stage.

According to the blurb on their website: "The world used to be a desolate, sad and dark place.

"A barren land where nothing would grow and the only sustenance for the craggy ground came from the tears of recently orphaned children.

"And then, in 2005, Ray Peacock and Ed Gamble met. A rainbow exploded across the sky and God winked."

The duo met at a gig at Durham University where Ed was a student performing sketch comedy. Ray was booked to comper a charity show that Ed was performing in, and it was here that the first brick was laid on their road to comedy.

Tickets for the show cost £10 and to book you can call the Box Office on 01582 767525.

ROAD TRAFFIC REGULATION ACT 1984 - SECTION 14(1)(A) AND REGULATION 16(2) OF THE MOTORWAY TRAFFIC (ENGLAND AND WALES) REGULATIONS 1982 THE M1 MOTORWAY (JUNCTIONS 10 TO 13) (TEMPORARY PROHIBITION OF TRAFFIC) ORDER 2013

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the Secretary of State for Transport has made an Order on the M1 Motorway in the Borough of Luton, Central Bedfordshire, Milton Keynes and the County of Hertfordshire, to enable essential carriageway maintenance and remedial works to the overhead gantries, to be carried out in safety.

The works are expected to take place overnight (10pm - 6am Mondays to Thursdays, 10pm - 7am Fridays and Saturdays and 10pm - 5.30am Sundays) for a period not exceeding 3 months between Tuesday 2 April 2013 and Sunday 30 June 2013. The works will be carried out in phases using a combination of lane closures allowing traffic to run on the hard shoulder of the M1, and carriageway and slip road closures. The closures will be applied only to the extent that is necessary for particular works to be undertaken and will only apply during such times and to such extent as will be indicated by traffic signs.

The effect of the Order on the M1 will be to close -

1. the entry slip roads to, and the exit slip roads from, the northbound and southbound carriageways of the M1 from J10 to J13 - diverting traffic wishing to enter or leave the M1 on or off the motorway at the nearest open slip road and return to the original junction via the opposite carriageway in order to continue their journey, and
2. the northbound and southbound carriageways of the M1 between the exit slip roads and the entry slip roads at J10, J11 and J13 - diverting traffic off and back onto the motorway via the exit and entry slip roads.

It may also be necessary at times during the works to impose temporary rolling road blocks to control traffic, on various lengths of the motorway between J10 and J13. These are expected to be in place on limited occasions when traffic will be directed by traffic officers who will slow, and occasionally stop, traffic for short periods until it is safe to allow drivers to proceed.

The closures (which will not apply to emergency service, winter maintenance, traffic officer or works vehicles) and diversion routes will be clearly indicated by traffic signs throughout the works.

The Order will come into force on 25 March 2013 and continue in force until 30 June 2013.

Mrs A V Middleton, An official of the Highways Agency

GRAND PLAN

MPVs used to be strict advocates of the form-follows-function principle - to the extent they could end up looking, well, a bit dull to say the least.

Earlier generations of Scenic were in danger of falling into that trap but, over the years, it's become a suaver-looking thing and the most recent changes put style firmly on the agenda. You could argue that being attractive never hurts.

MPVs maybe taller and bulkier than their hatchback siblings, but that doesn't mean they shouldn't be good to drive. In the Scenic's case, its Megane-based chassis is a boon. The MacPherson strut front suspension is linked to an innovative horned sub frame that helps to reduce lateral movement and gives more precise steering responses. The rear set-up is based around a tough torsen beam and together, the two systems help the Scenic achieve a very low specific roll angle for a compact MPV. The upshot is composed cornering and a supple ride that soaks up the ravages of poorly maintained roads with impressive calm but little of the body lean that can cause queasiness among passengers. The electric power steering has also been tweaked to be more accurate and responsive.

Add cleaner and more frugal engines and the latest driver-aid tech and it's clear that the Grand Scenic packs the appeal of a car that continues to offer competitive space, a wide array of useful features and Megane-derived chassis dynamics to satisfy the keen driver. Few rivals indeed are as well-rounded.

Murray's in real hurry to clinch gold

ATHLETICS

LUTON athlete Rebecca Murray has followed in the footsteps of some famous names by running to glory at the English Schools Athletics Association cross country championships.

Murray triumphed in the 3000m at Walton-on-Trent in Derbyshire, a title previously won by multiple world champion Paul Radcliffe and Scottish world junior champion Stephanie Twell.

Young athletes from all over the country were greeted with wet and muddy conditions at the Catton Park venue last weekend.

Murray was silver medallist in 2012 and managed to go one better after a closely fought battle with Avon representative Victoria Kenny.

The 18-year-old, who competes for Bedford and County Athletic Club, eventually won the race by four seconds.

Third place went to Leicestershire and Rutland's Amy Griffiths, who won the Inter Counties under-17 championship last week.

The event has been a springboard to greater things for many athletes so Murray looks to have a bright future in the sport.

Double Olympic champion Mo Farah is another big name previous winner.

Aiming to be pitch perfect

CRICKET clubs are to be given the chance to hear how to make the most out of their grounds in time for the new season.

On April 11 at Flitwick CC, the guest of the Bedfordshire Association of Cricket Officials will be Andrew Clarke, an English Cricket Board county pitch adviser.

He can help clubs to improve their facilities with the right information and guidance in pitch maintenance.

The association said it was delighted to be given the opportunity to make use of Mr Clarke's expertise.

"His knowledge of cricket maintenance, construction and machinery is staggering.

"His commitment and dedication results in the standards of provision at Shenley CC," a statement said.

"He has featured in the awards for groundsman of the year on several occasions.

"The subject of his talk with us will be on the marking and scoring of pitches which a number of leagues now want the umpires' opinion on."

Mr Clarke will be speaking from 7.30pm and the meeting is open to all with an interest.

LUTON TOWN
TAMWORTH

BY TOM SHARP

sport@lsnmedia.co.uk

CREDIT to Luton Town groundsmen and the volunteers who enabled the Hatters' clash with Tamworth to go ahead.

But their fine work was all in vain as the pair shared an entertaining but ultimately painful stalemate at Kenilworth Road.

Painfully cold for all involved, but more importantly, a painfully frustrating afternoon for Town.

As hard as they tried the Lambs defence could not be breached, with the best of Luton's host of chances Alex Wall's 53rd-minute close range header.

The scene as both sides emerged for kick-off was of sheer forlornness. Two teams trooping out in front of a frozen but surprisingly enthusiastic home faithful and the diehard Tamworth fans that probably travelled in the same car.

Snowy conditions befitting Siberia rather than South Bedfordshire enveloped the ground.

The conundrum for the Hatters is one of fixture congestion. Failure to get this clash played would have resulted in yet another scheduling nightmare.

Add to that, both sides were looking to build on midweek victories and gain some late-season momentum.

Town downed relegation-threatened Stockport on Tuesday night, halting a four-game winless run while Tamworth climbed further away from the drop zone with a win over Southport. Perhaps they would have been happy to toss a coin for the three points on this occasion, however.

For all the Arctic overtones there was certainly some fire and bite on the pitch.

Dave Martin was lucky not to receive more than a yellow card after raising his arm to the face of former Aston Villa midfielder Lee Hendrie, while Wall was tangling with the opposition with little reward from referee

HIGH BOOTS: Simon Ainge flies in Adam Bromley.

Intent to make this afternoon a worthwhile mission was all coming from the home side with their efforts in the heavy snow deserving of a goal.

The Lambs had under-pressure shot-stopper Liam Mitchell to thank for continued parity as Steve McNulty almost added another header to Tuesday's winning effort against Stockport, while a Martin strike needed a firm hand.

Having survived Luton's prolonged dominance, Tamworth almost shot themselves in the foot as Connor Gudger's header crept agonisingly over his own crossbar with the first

Hit man Roache makes it 48 this season as Town chalk up 15 league wins in a row

LOCAL FOOTBALL

DESPITE yesterday's game at Harefield being called off, the Spartan South Midlands Premier Division looks to be all but Dunstable Town's after a 3-0 win at London Colney earlier in the week.

They began Wednesday's match in dominant fashion, taking control and looking to strike first.

Town dominated possession, forcing the home side into some last-ditch defending early on.

But despite all this pressure and many chances – including Nathan Frater's free kick cannoning back off the crossbar – it took until the 30th minute for the visitors to take a deserved lead.

Frater was the architect in Dunstable's opener, sending a delicate chip forward for Lee Roache to nod into the back of the net, taking his tally to an incredible 48 goals this season.

Five minutes before the break, Roache looked to secure a brace, but his shot was spilled by Colney goalkeeper Mark Whitmore into the path of Tony Burnett, who scored a simple tap in to double the visitors' lead.

The home side made a credible attempt to get back into the game after the break, but repeatedly lost possession at vital times in the final third.

Centre backs Nick Leach and Graham Buchanan played their part in keeping the Dunstable scoresheet blank, putting in a stellar defensive performance.

But after 71 minutes, Town put the game to bed from a swift attack down the left flank when Tony Fontanelle played the ball in to Nick Jackson who scored with a fine shot in the bottom left corner.

Dunstable looked to extend their lead and almost did through substitute Danny Hutchins, who forced two fine saves from Whitmore.

It was the Blues' 15 consecutive league win, taking their total for the season up to 96 points, 16 ahead of second place Aylesbury United with a game in hand over their nearest rivals.

Town are also undefeated in the league this season, with 29 wins and five draws.

Dunstable host Colney Heath next Saturday.

but can't roast Lambs

half drawing to a close in the continued blizzard.

Nobody would have been surprised if the referee had called time on this wintry affair at the break but perhaps begrudgingly both sides returned for the second half with a similar outlook as in the first, Tamworth's goal again leading a charmed life.

Only Wall will know how he did not open his account following a deliciously-weighted cross from strike partner Jon Shaw. His six-yard header bounced just wide of Mitchell's goal.

Moments later, Shaw found room in the box but under pressure from Tom Marshall he lashed inches wide.

The away side had only won once in seven attempts against the Hatters but they looked destined to hold for a point despite the 61st minute introduction of top scorer Andre Gray.

But wave after wave of attack formed achieved little, and the sweet shrill of the final whistle sent Hatters fans home disappointed.

SNOW LUCK: Luton drew a blank against Tamworth

LUDICROUS: Luton boss John Still

Still: How long would Fergie have lasted now?

BY LUKE PETERSON
sport@lsnmedia.co.uk

LUTON Town manager John Still says Sir Alex Ferguson would not be at Manchester United had the Scot been appointed in modern-day football.

More than 100 managers and coaches across England's top four leagues have lost their jobs just this season and, had Ferguson's indifferent start as a manager in the late eighties come in the current climate, the 71-year-old could have been out of a job, according to Still.

"If it was now, I'm not sure where Alex Ferguson would be managing," he said. "He wouldn't be at Manchester United and would his career have taken off somewhere? I don't know."

"I think it's ludicrous. You get very little chance, very little opportunity and for some of the younger managers their first chance is their only chance."

Former Stockport County boss Darije Kalezic was sacked immediately after their loss to Luton on Tuesday, just 12 games into his reign.

"I don't think it's fair, I don't think it's just, I don't think it's right," Still said. "It's sad. Short-term success is false economy."

"I think that if a club contracts a manager for a given amount of time, they should not be allowed to change it."

Prior to his appointment at Luton almost a month ago, Still was the Football League's longest serving boss, driving his beloved Dagenham & Redbridge from non-league football into the third tier of the English game over a nine-year spell.

And in accordance with this campaign's spate of sackings, Still admits it was tough to leave the security his Dagenham post asserted him.

"I found it very difficult to leave nine years behind me," he said. "Some people said to me 'you should have done ten years' but my project was done."

"I'm very fortunate that I worked for a club that, from when I went in and told them that this was a project three years in the making, they stayed with it."

"Most managers will never get that opportunity. What we did at Dagenham was incredible."

"What we created, I want to do it again."

I know players I'm going to ditch warns boss Still

FROZEN: Luton's Jake Howells in action as the Hatters were frustrated against Tamworth

FOOTBALL

BY LUKE PETERSON
sport@lsmmedia.co.uk

LUTON manager John Still has provided managing director Gary Sweet with the list of players who are surplus to requirements.

Still has been assessing the squad he inherited since taking charge in late February and has separated the majority of his players into two piles.

"Players are going to go eventually," said Still. "I'm in the process now of talking to the players."

"I will be having a meeting with Gary Sweet and will be telling him some players that I have already decided on."

Still also says his fourth signing is in his own hands but he may postpone any decision.

"I know what the player I can bring in can do," said Still. "I'm still waiting to see what others can do. If he comes in he won't be ready to play for a week or two."

"It's still in its infancy. It's in my hands; if I do it now or leave it until the end of the season [but] I'm sure it will happen soon."

Luton's current crop of players, however, have been kept in the dark about any changes taking place on and off the pitch.

"I've not spoken to him about anything like that," said inform midfielder Dave Martin. "We wouldn't discuss that with the players. It's for the staff to sort out and not for us."

"I've just got to keep playing well. I just want to be at Luton Town, enjoying my football and helping the team out. I want to make my mark."

Having disposed of coaches Carl Emberson and Stuart Cash earlier this week to make room for new assistant manager Terry Harris, a further change to the backroom staff is in the pipeline. A fitness coach is the likelihood.

"Terry [Harris] has worked with me for nine years," said Still. "I have brought my entire scouting system with me."

Unfortunately, it meant two people leaving the club.

"There is going to be another change soon on the staff side which we haven't had here before. It will be another major thing in the development of players."

"We're changing lots of things here."

The Hatters played out a frustrating 0-0 draw with Tamworth in the Blue Square Premier yesterday, after volunteers helped groundsmen clear snow from the Kenilworth Road pitch.

Still believes his side are continuing to show good signs but need to be more clinical in the final third to turn points into prizes.

"Again it was just our shooting that let us down and that obviously needs a bit of a touch-up but overall we worked hard so I am pleased," he said.

"We have not won today but the fans did not boo. They clapped the players off and that is because of the effort we showed in tricky conditions."
